The landscape construction minor is designed to provide students with a basic understanding of the principles and methods used in the planning, construction and management of the structures and other facilities that are designed and intensively managed and are used in modern landscapes. These landscape activities are performed at private residences (in urban, suburban, and rural settings), commercial properties, sport fields and golf courses, as well as parks and other recreational areas. The minor is designed for students interested in landscape development and management as represented by majors such as crop science, landscape architecture, landscape horticulture, natural resources, and turfgrass science.

The landscape construction minor consists of 23-25 credit hours. Six required courses (20 hours) provide a basic foundation in construction materials, techniques and equipment. The remaining three to five hours allows the minor to be tailored to the student's specific area of interest.

If you follow the guidelines on this sheet in completing the minor, you should file the Minor Program Form with your college or school counselor. Any variation from the program described on this sheet needs the approval of the coordinating or assistant coordinating adviser.
