Department: Psychology
Position: Brain Injury and Behavior
Rank: Open

Description:
The Department of Psychology in the College of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University seeks up to two outstanding candidates to contribute to a university-wide initiative on chronic brain injury (CBI), including concussion and other traumatic brain injury, aging, and Alzheimer’s Disease, commencing autumn semester 2016. We seek individuals who engage in research relevant to understanding the impact of CBI on cognitive, emotional, and/or behavioral processes. Researchers who employ a variety of methods including animal models, brain imaging, and/or computational modeling are encouraged to apply. These tenure-track positions are targeted for any rank, including full professor. These positions are partially funded by Ohio State’s Discovery Themes Initiative, a significant faculty hiring investment in key thematic areas in which the university can build on its culture of academic collaboration to make a global impact.

Qualifications:
Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. in psychology or a related field prior to the employment start date. All applicants are expected to have strong and fundable research programs and to contribute to both undergraduate and Ph.D. training in one or more of our graduate program specializations (behavioral neuroscience, clinical, cognitive, decision making, developmental, quantitative, and social). Appointment is contingent on the university’s verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:
The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the center of a rapidly growing and diverse metropolitan area with a population of over 1.5 million. The area offers a wide range of affordable housing, many cultural and recreational opportunities, excellent schools, and a strong economy based on government as well as service, transportation and technology industries (see http://liveworkplaycolumbus.com/). Columbus has consistently been rated as one of the Top U.S. cities for quality of life, and was selected as one of the Top 10 cities for African Americans to live, work, and play by Black Enterprise magazine. Additional information about the Columbus area is available at http://www.columbus.org.

Application Instructions:
Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/6146. Complete applications include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, and three letters of recommendation. Full professor candidates may submit names of referees for the initial screening. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but those received before October 1, 2015 will receive priority consideration. Inquiries should be directed to Jay McKirnan (mckirnan.4@osu.edu).

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. We are an NSF Advance Institution and a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.