Units: Molecular Genetics (ASC); Comprehensive Cancer Center (CCC); Division of Endocrinology (COM)

Positions: Tenure track/tenured faculty

Rank: Molecular Genetics: Open Rank
      Comprehensive Cancer Center: Open Rank
      Division of Endocrinology: Open Rank

Description:
The Solid Tumor Program at the Ohio State University Comprehensive Cancer Center, The Division of Endocrinology, and the Department of Molecular Genetics in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions at the levels of Assistant, Associate and Full Professor. Outstanding individuals using and/or developing models of endocrine cancer are particularly encouraged to apply. At present, research in the program and department spans a wide range of topics in cancer biology including genetics, metabolism, signaling, cell cycle, cell differentiation, DNA repair, transcription, DNA replication, checkpoint control, cachexia, aging, metastasis, therapeutic resistance, and tumor microenvironment. Additional information about the OSUCCC and the Department of Molecular Genetics is available at http://cancer.osu.edu and http://molgen.osu.edu.

Qualifications:
Applicants should have a Ph.D. and postdoctoral research experience. A proven record of accomplishments in solid tumor/cancer biology, and a strong record of publications and successful grant applications is required. Outstanding individuals using and/or developing mouse models of cancer or using and/or developing high-throughput genomic technologies is desired. Appointment is contingent on the university’s verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:
The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the center of a rapidly growing and diverse metropolitan area with a population of over 1.5 million. The area offers a wide range of affordable housing, many cultural and recreational opportunities, excellent schools, and a strong economy based on government as well as service, transportation and technology industries (see http://liveworkplaycolumbus.com). Columbus has consistently been rated as one of the Top U.S. cities for quality of life, and was selected as one of the Top 10 cities for African Americans to live, work, and play by Black Enterprise magazine. Additional information about the Columbus area is available at http://www.columbus.org.

Application Instructions:
Candidates for all positions should apply to Academic Jobs Online at: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/6326. Complete applications include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of research and teaching interests, and three letters of reference. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled, however those received by November 30, 2015 will receive priority consideration. Inquiries may be directed to Jessie Siegman at siegman.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. We are an NSF Advance Institution and a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.