The Ohio State University Center for Historical Research (CHR) brings together faculty, students, and the public to examine the historical foundation and development of critical issues of global importance. The center hosts visiting senior, junior, and dissertation fellows chosen through an international competition.

AT A GLANCE
2015-2017 CHR PROGRAM
Family, Kinship and Household: New Perspectives
The overall aim of the program is to explore new approaches to the study of families, kinship and households that have emerged over the past couple of decades.

THE PROGRAM IS STRUCTURED AROUND THE FOLLOWING TOPICS:
• Autumn 2015: New Approaches to the History of Family, Kinship and Households
• Spring 2016: Families and Kinship
• Autumn 2016: Families, Households and Economies
• Spring 2017: Families, Politics and the State

PAST CHR PROGRAMS
2009-2011: Diaspora, Migration, and Gender in World History
2011-2013: Health, Disease, and Environment in World History
2013-2015: State Formations: Histories and Cultures of Statehood

CHR PROGRAMS
Each year the Center brings together scholars from various disciplines to examine issues of broad contemporary relevance in historical perspective. The annual program of the Center is organized around a central theme, which will be explored through a series of twelve seminars.

Spanish Flu: 1918 Influenza Pandemic
I am writing to congratulate you on the creation of CHR and especially its focus on globalization. There is now a chance to adapt history programs here in the U.S. to the world beyond. We are revising our program now; you are ahead of us—so well done for that!

(Anthony G. Hopkins, Walter Prescott Webb Chair of History, University of Texas at Austin)