AWARDS

Arts and Sciences Faculty Elected to American Academy of Arts and Sciences
Some of the world's most accomplished leaders; from academia, business, public affairs, the humanities, and the arts, have been elected members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Among those elected this year from the College of Arts and Sciences are:
Ellen Mosley-Thompson, director, Byrd Polar Research Center and Distinguished University Professor of Geography; and Peter W. Culicover, Humanities Distinguished Professor in Linguistics.

Herb Weisberg, chair and professor, political science, has been invited to participate in the 2011-2012 Frankel Institute for Advanced Judaic Studies at the University of Michigan. Weisberg's research project is "The Distinctive Jewish-American Voter."

Robert Ladislas Derr, associate professor, art, received an Envision 365 grant, from the City of Urbana, Illinois, to produce In My Shoes: Urbana.

Darla Munroe, associate professor, geography, was selected for a Fulbright award. Munroe will be conducting research on Comparative Forest Transitions in Rural Peripheries, at the Geography Institute, Humboldt University, Berlin, in 2012.

President Gee and Provost Alutto are recommending to the Board of Trustees the appointment of professor Timothy Gerber, School of Music, as Secretary of the University Senate, the highest governance position for a faculty member. Subject to the board's approval, his appointment will be effective July 1.
