Anyone considering a minor is strongly advised to pay a visit to the Department of Philosophy, which has important information and advice about planning a minor program that will not be found elsewhere. What follows are the Department’s specific requirements and the Arts and Sciences guidelines.

Some students will want a minor in philosophy to complement their major; others will want to pursue some topic in philosophy unrelated to their major. In either case, the Director of Undergraduate Studies will help design a minor program that is sensitive to the individual student’s goals.
