The history of art minor consists of five courses (15 credit hours) from the department's offerings, at least two (6 credit hours) of which must be at the 4000 or 5000-level. There are also two courses in the History of Design (Design 2750 and 5750) which may be counted towards the History of Art minor.

Students can choose their own path through the minor – either a general selection of five courses or a selection that focuses on a particular period or artistic tradition, in consultation with a History of Art faculty advisor. For instance, students could choose courses that focus on the arts of a geographic region such as Europe, North America, East Asia, or Latin America, or on a particular period of art history, such as Ancient, Medieval, Early Modern, or Modern/Contemporary.

Some courses may have prerequisites. Please consult the course bulletin before enrolling in courses that you want to count toward the Minor in History of Art.*
