Classical Humanities Minor

Department of Classics, 414 University Hall, 230 N. Oval Mall, Columbus, OH 43210-1340; 614-292-2744; <https://classics.osu.edu>

Classics is the study of the cultures of the ancient Greeks and Romans and the people they directly affected. Its major subfields include the Greek and Latin languages from the earliest records until the Middle Ages; the literary and philosophical works composed in these languages; Greek and Roman art, architecture, science and technology; Greek and Roman political and social institutions such as religious beliefs and practices, laws and legal procedures, the organization of states, the conduct of warfare, and expressions of gender, sexuality, age, and class; and the recovery, evaluation, and preservation of the material remains of Greek and Roman culture, including writing inscribed in stone or metal or on papyrus and other paper-like media.

The minor in Classical Humanities includes two tracks: Greek Civilization and Roman Civilization. All Classical Humanities minors must take Classics 1101 as a prerequisite to the minor. The Greek Civilization track requires Classics 2201 or 2201H; the Roman Civilization track requires Classics 2202 or 2202H. Each track requires a minimum of 9 additional credit hours in general ancient civilization classics courses, at least 6 credit hours of which must be upper-level courses to total a minimum of 12 credit hours.

Once the ASC Academic Advisor has approved the Minor Program Form, students should file the form with the College of Arts and Sciences Advising and Academic Services. For further information about the minor program, contact the Department of Greek and Latin.
